Ry Sithyneth, president of Independent Trade Union Federation, said that the company has suspended its operations for more than two months, but it gave 40 percent of the wages to the workers.

He said that the workers protested because the factory management showed them that they resigned from the factory by their own accord.

“The workers did not resign at all, but the company said the workers have resigned. The company did like this to avoid paying seniority pays to the workers,” Mr Sithyneth said, noting that a total of 1,020 workers worked at the factory, but it has suspended its operation owing to cancelled orders.

War takes toll on Gaza's ancient heritage

Gaza's ancient Greek site of Anthedon has been bombed, its "Napoleon's Palace" destroyed, and the only private museum burned down: the war has taken a terrible toll on the rich heritage of the Palestinian territory.

Aquaculture, funding can play a vital role in ensuring food security

Food security is emerging as a troublesome issue worldwide. We are not spared. It is proving to be even more critical than energy security.

Khmer New Year 2024, blessed Cambodia

The consequences of the Covid-19 pandemic and the suspension of the flow of Chinese tourists and investors to Cambodia, provide grounds for telling a dark story of the Cambodian economy.

Will Israel-Iran conflict trigger another 'Middle East war'?

Iran launched an unprecedented strike on Israeli territory, escalating long-standing tensions between the two countries. At a time when many are concerned, it could blow up into a full-scale regional conflict. Israel could give a proportional response.

Memories from the life of a KR genocide survivor

As a genocide survivor of the Khmer Rouge and the executive director of an organisation dedicated to helping survivors, I have always believed that I have a firm grasp of the full spectrum of harm inflicted upon Cambodian society by the regime, particularly since I have dedicated my life to helping people in this population.

Possible TikTok ban in US won't see app disappear anytime soon

The House passed legislation Saturday that would ban TikTok in the United States if the popular social media platform's China-based owner doesn't sell its stake within a year, but don't expect the app to go away anytime soon.

Young Cambodian explain their love of tattoos

More and more people in Cambodia are getting tattoos. They view them as art, fashion, and memories of their loved ones. At the same time the older generation still regard people with tattoos as gangers.
